CYBERSECURITY PROJECT EXPERIENCE

Independent Cybersecurity Researcher | Self-Directed

January 2025 – Present

- Deployed Wazuh SIEM v4.12 on Ubuntu, connected a Windows 11 endpoint agent, and simulated 3 real-world attack types from Kali Linux including Nmap port scans and Hydra SSH brute-force; triaged 16+ live alerts mapped to 5 MITRE ATT&CK tactics including Defense Evasion and Privilege Escalation
- Conducted web application vulnerability assessment on DVWA, testing 3 vulnerability types across 4 security levels; identified and documented 6+ exploitable weaknesses including Command Injection, SQL Injection, and Reflected XSS, with impact and remediation aligned to OWASP Top 10
- Performed network penetration test on a simulated SME environment using Nmap and Nikto; identified 2 critical CVEs across Apache 2.4.7 and OpenSSH 6.6.1p1, configured Metasploit to exploit CVE-2017-0144 (EternalBlue), and produced structured pentest report with 5 risk-rated findings and remediation recommendations
- Demonstrated secure password management practices using Bitwarden referencing NIST SP 800-63B and OWASP authentication standards; documented credential stuffing risks and MFA implementation
